Sharing from a Student Ambassador

From feeling incompetent, unsure, disqualified, and not ready, to feeling accomplished, motivated, equipped and honored as a human disciple of God. Coming to Hong Kong was not an easy decision, especially when I had to sacrifice a lot of things back in the other side of the world. Becoming a Student Ambassador completely changed my view in ministry and personal life goals. I fully understood the power and influence that a good friend can make on people. Getting involved with the students by playing sports with them, going out to explore different places, eating with them, taking classes, listening to their life stories, studying the Bible together and rooming with them can impact their life and my life forever. More than being a positive influence on campus, we are called to be a good friend. During this year, I have developed leadership skills, abilities to organized big and small events, improved my communication skills, increased my social network, and strengthened my spiritual life.
